Memorial Day.

BY J. H. B.

Sire, gather thy home gods to thee,
And repeat the story anew,
Of those who gave their lives so free,
For the cause they thought so true.

Woman, weave thy garland rare,
To their sacred memory dear;
And thy hands the tribute bear,
And bestow it with a tear.

Maiden, with lily and with rose,
Entwine a wreath of sweet perfume;
Go place it o'er the brow of those,
Immortal'd, within the tomb.

Consecrate this day so holy;
Father, mother, sister, brother,
Go honor those who faced the volley
For the right, and died together.

Forget them not, for oh! how can you?
Glorious dead, so true and brave;
Each grave with holy tears bedew,
Life they gave your homes to save.

Beneath the mounds of this sad city,
Lies there one who wore the Blue?
Scorn it not, be moved with pity,
For loved was he by some one, too.

The Blue and Gray sleep peaceful here,
Both noble deeds have done,
They loved and died for the princess fair,
The goddess by our fathers won.

Their immortal'd souls commingled are,
Hatred being a thing despised.
Forget then, Oh! ye mortals here,
All malice, envy, east aside.

Why should the North the South malign?
Or th South her spleen display?
Divided by no subtle line,
Alike we're made of clay.

Write the Blue then, with the Gray,
Slight net a soldier's grave;
But hand in hand in solemn array,
Strew flowers o'er the Deathless brave.

Business is improving.

A Prize Fight.

There is some talk of a prize fight at Lake Park at three o'clock this afternoon, between two prominent citizens of Frankfort. The "spongers" and "referees" are men of considerable prominence in business circles in this city, and quite a little excitement has been created in sporting circles by the rumor. Bets of five to one are freely offered on the "heavy weight" man, with but few takers. The "light weight" is known to be "some pumpkins" with shooting irons, if nobody interferes, but his friends are not willing to risk their wealth on his skill as a pugilist. The fight will not be for fun so much as to settle a little unpleasantness between the parties.

Time will be called at three o'clock, sharp, and it is expected that a very large crowd will be present to witness the contest. No admission fee will be charged at the gate, but spectators will not, under any circumstances, be permitted inside the ring.

The matter has been kept very quiet, only the knowing ones being in the secret, and it is thought the sport will not be disturbed by the interference of the officers of the law.

Our information about the affair was obtained by overhearing a conversation in the post-office lobby yesterday morning between two of "the boys."

He Paid For Them.

Last Sunday week one of the finest looking young ladies in this county came down stairs, dressed for church, and looking just too sweet, when she was addressed by a distant male relative (rather elderly) as follows:

"Minnie, you look mighty pretty and sweet this morning, and if you'll kiss me, I'll give you a dollar."

The young lady hesitated a few moments, and, having considered the proposition, consented to kiss the distant male relative in consideration of the payment of one dollar. She kissed him, and received the dollar, as promised.

After awhile the d. m. r. said, "Minnie, I have just a half dollar left, and you look so pretty and sweet that I'll give it to you if you will kiss me again."

The kiss was immediately given and the money paid over, and then the beautiful Sunday Law breaker went to church.

When she came home from church she approached her distant male relative, and, evidently having thought the matter over, said, "Here, cousin Dock; take your money back; I don't want your dollar and a half."

The hard hearted d. m. r. replied, "Keep it, honey; the money is yours; somebody sent it to you yesterday by me, and I forgot to give it to you."

She kept the money, but we will wager a year's subscription to the ROUNDABOUT that she will never kiss him again for love nor money.

Crutcher & Starks are making arrangements to occupy the store now occupied by Mr. E. Power, in addition to their present store-room. Work has been commenced, as will be seen by the following "dispatches," posted on the front door of the Capital Clothing Establishment.

FIRST DISPATCH.

THURSDAY, 3, P. M.—Partition now up. Will soon be dry, and we will then put what goods we can on base shelf. Can't do any more work till Mr. Power returns. He is out of town. He will occupy room in Noel's Block on Ann street. C. & S.

SECOND DISPATCH.

THURSDAY, 7, P. M.—Will soon close. Will open to-morrow, at 5:30, a. m. The material for the front will be here this evening, but Mr. Mike Buckley, the contractor, thinks he cannot do anything on it till Monday, at which time he will commence and finish as soon as possible. Mr. Charles Egbert will do the painting and papering. This new plank partition will be taken out when the other room is ready. Will keep the public posted as work progresses. C. & S.

THIRD DISPATCH.

FRIDAY, 4, A. M.—Mr. Starks in bed. Mr. Shelton, m. of c., now cleaning store. Will be ready for business about 7, a. m. The contractor will do nothing on the improvement to-day. Sorry our old pard., L. D. C., has to leave us, as we understand he goes to the mountains with the striped boys. He's a good boy, and we hope he'll have a nice time. Will keep public posted as to his movements. Commissioners have not leased the prison yet. C. & S.

There will be no preaching at the Christian Church to-morrow, but at 10½ o'clock, a. m., the members of that congregation will meet in the lecture room and have their usual communion services.

One of the most prominent lawyers of the city stumbled against the fist of one of his professional brethren Tuesday afternoon with such force as to cause him to assume a horizontal position on the floor, without ceremony. The unfortunate man came very near getting angry with his brother, thinking the act was done purposely. Fortunately, the presence of an elderly member of the profession prevented the gentleman from doing anything rash.

A cow belonging to Mrs. John Vaughn, living near Cedar Run, fell into a well Tuesday afternoon, where she remained three hours before she could be gotten out. Mr. Allen Vaughn saw her when she fell, and immediately threw a rope over her horns, by which he held her head above water until the neighbors, who had been hastily summoned, could dig a trench to the water's edge, through which the cow walked out. No damage was done to the animal except that she was thoroughly chilled.

Mass Temperance Meeting.

The expense of attending the State Mass Temperance meeting at Park Hill Camp Ground, which meets July 13th, will be comparatively very small. All the railroads offer reduced rates. The E. & P. R. R. will sell tickets at three cents per mile, each way; the C. S. R. R. will sell tickets at two cents per mile, each way; the L. & N. R. R., and L. C. & L. R. R. will sell tickets at full fare going, and one third of regular fare returning; and the K. C. R. R. will sell at half the regular fare each way, or, more properly, one fare for round trip.

Below we give an estimate of the cost of living on the grounds:

Admission fee to grounds.....	$ 10
Cottage of 2 rooms, per day, about.....	1 00
Cottage of 1 room, per day, about.....	75
Regular board at dining hall, per day.....	1 00
Single meals.....	50
Single lodging.....	50

These prices include straw for two double bunks in each cottage. Cots, chairs, water buckets, wash basins, cups, &c., will be on the ground for rent at nominal rates.

Porters will be on hand whose prices shall be reasonable. Horses kept at the stable at $1 per day, 50 cents for single feed, or 25 cents for hay. Pasturage in the neighborhood can be had at ten cents per day.

Persons who expect to remain during the meeting should bring their own bedding. Each room in cottage will accommodate four persons, and the expense ought not to be more than $1 25 per day, each, and perhaps less.

The expense can be materially reduced by furnishing your own provisions.

Dr. T. T. BRADFORD'S Cure for Rheumatism, Gout, and Neuralgia. This is not a nostrum, but a preparation compounded by an experienced physician with a view to the cure of the above complaints. To any who are suffering we offer this remedy as a sure cure, and can furnish the most reliable testimonials from persons who have used it and been relieved. Price fifty cents per bottle. Further information given by the sole proprietor, Dr. T. T. Bradford, Augusta, Ky. For sale by W. H. Averill, Frankfort, Ky. John D. Park & Sons, wholesale agents, Cincinnati, O. feb21-6m.

County Court next Monday.

Foresters next Wednesday evening.

Regular meeting of the City Council next Tuesday night.

The Catholic female school closed its session Tuesday.

We are promised a bicycle race at our fair in September

Work will be begun on the lock at this place about the first of August.

There will be preaching at Belle Point Chapel to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

The Presbyterian Sunday-school will picnic Monday. It will go up the river on the "S. V. Pence."

Royal Templars meet next Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Installation of officers will take place.

Three hundred hands are wanted to work on the river. There is no excuse for anybody remaining idle now.

Mr. "Buck" Campbell has rented the house adjoining the orphan asylum, in South Frankfort, and moved into it Monday.

No house in the city sells groceries cheaper than the popular house of F. V. Gray & Co., St. Clair street, near Broadway.

Whitesides & McEwan have recently received a lot of very beautiful furniture, and are offering it at city prices. Call and examine it.

All of Anderson and Shelby counties are expected to attend our fair in September. No bridge tolls will be charged, and don't you forget it.

There is much complaint about the large expenditure of money on the new reservoir dam and no return from it in the way of clear, cold water.

Our correspondents will oblige us by omitting all allusions to the weather, advertising puffs, &c., and confining themselves strictly to news items.

According to the United States census returns the population of Frankfort is 6,968. This does not include the 2,000 persons who reside in the suburbs.

Capt. John S. Robson, a soldier of the war of 1812, and an old citizen of this county, died near Bridgeport, last Sunday afternoon, in the 91st year of his age.

Sickness in the city is increasing.

The Court of Appeals adjourned Tuesday for a two months' vacation.

Mrs. Humphrey Evans has removed from South Frankfort to her residence on Lewis street

Mr. Sam. C. Sayres has moved into the house on Main street, formerly occupied by Dr. J. S. Price.

The excursionists for Louisville and Indianapolis got off to-day. They will return next Tuesday.

Every citizen of this city and county should contribute something towards making our fair in September a success.

A good second hand rockaway and a set of harness, nearly new, are advertised for sale in our column of Local Notices.

Our merchants should exhibit their goods at the fair next September, and, by so doing, help to make Floral Hall attractive. Let us show up or shut up; let us have a good fair or none at all.

Jo. LeCompte's South Side drug store is not only arranged with great taste and beauty, but is doing a very large share of the drug business of the city. An extra fine line of cigars and tobacco can always be found there.

This office is prepared to do any kind of job printing, from a little dodger to a large book. Our work speaks for itself, and our prices are as low as those of any first-class office. Give us a call when you want printing done.

One of the flues of the boiler at Saffell's distillery collapsed yesterday morning, and came near doing a great deal of harm, but the safety valve was raised in time to prevent an explosion. It will take several days to repair the damage.

What a grand place Frankfort might be made if her business men had the pluck and energy that every business man should have. Business is carried on here because the people force their trade on the city.

If some enterprising man would start a little country store at some cross-roads near here and properly advertise his business, he would injure Frankfort materially. Why? Because the merchants of this city make no effort to bring trade here. They say, "Well, I've been here a long time, and everybody knows where I am and what I keep, and if I advertise it's just throwing money away."

Well, Mr. Merchant, you just continue to sing that same song, and you will die poor; and, but for the newspapers, only a few of your friends would know of your death, notwithstanding "everybody knows where you are and what you keep."

But what we started to say is this: The Legislature kindly donated the use of the Capitol grounds to the city of Frankfort to be used as a public park, and our City Council will do nothing to convert the grounds into a park, and there is not enough public spirit in our citizens to enable them to subscribe the paltry sum of $400 for the purpose of beautifying the city and having an attractive public resort for strangers and our own home people, notwithstanding Judge W. H. Sneed offers to subscribe $100 and superintend the work free of charge. Shame! Shame!! SHAME!!!

New moon next Tuesday.

St. Clair street needs a new coat of metal.

The farmers say that wheat is sprouting in the shock.

The McCreary Guards will go to Crab Orchard about the 19th inst. They are drilling for the Crab Orchard encampment.

The population of the city of Louisville, according to the United States census returns, is 126,556—an increase of nearly 20 per cent. in the past ten years.

The first number of the Daily Gazette made its appearance Thursday morning. It is neat and newsy, and should receive the hearty support of the good people of Frankfort. We wish it abundant success.

There are no more polite and obliging clerks in Kentucky than those who gladden with their cheerful smiles the hearts of the customers of R. K. McClure & Bro., and prominent among these is Will. Hudson, the "good looking, modest young man," as the young ladies are wont to speak of him.

A serious difficulty occurred at Woodlake, this county, last Saturday, the particulars of which, as they were told to us by a resident of that neighborhood, are as follows:

"B" Frazier was court-martialed not long since for some offence, about which he and Will. Ireland quarreled. Blows followed, and then deadly weapons were brought into play, and some serious damage was done. Frazier was stabbed in the side and stomach, and Ireland received a gash across the forehead. Bob Frazier, a brother of "B," tried to separate the combatants, when he had his skull fractured by a stone thrown by young Pugh. Ireland's brother took an active part in the fight, and it was about to become general, when, fortunately, the co-testants were separated and peace restored. Though some of the belligerents were seriously hurt, they are doing quite well now, and will soon be attending to their accustomed duties.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

It is Major Opera House now.

Go to church to-morrow and celebrate Monday.

It is probable that we will enjoy fresh oysters and snow balls in the city park next winter.

The South Frankfort dogs are getting bolder. They jump over the fence after you now.

Mr. R. E. Collins made an assignment Thursday to his son, Leslie, for the benefit of his creditors.

Rev. Green Clay Smith has been preaching to large congregations at the South Frankfort Baptist Church every night this week.

School Notice.

The Trustees of Franklin county will please send for teachers' registers and blanks.

THOS. B. FORD,
School Commissioner.

Editor Roundabout:

Work is progressing at Locks Nos. 1, 2 and 3 with a determination to complete them this season. Large forces are engaged in getting timber, collecting stone, and tearing away dams. I conceived the idea of burning No. 3 and had splendid success—saving $400 of labor, and redeeming much iron in a few hours. We will soon have a snag boat in the river, looking to give us navigation to Frankfort this season. Laborers are now coming in well and we will soon have all we want.

Truly,
R. H. FITZHUGH.

Bridgeport.

Blackberries are plentiful.

Bridgeport is again looking up.

There is a great deal of sickness in this neighborhood.

Miss Helen Long has returned from her visit to Hardinsville.

Madam Rumor says Hardinsville is to have a wedding soon.

Mr. Wm. Jackson has been quite sick with cholera morbus.

Capt. C. E. Merrill, of Washington City, is visiting friends and relatives here.

Died—On the 25th ult., Jimmy Flanagan, infant son of G. W. and Ruth Hall.

Wheat in the shock has been injured by the almost continuous rains of the past ten days.

Mr. W. Coots and family, of Shelby county, are visiting at Mr. Wm. Armstrong's.

Misses Alma Scofield and Lon. Jenkins, who have been visiting relatives in Hardinsville, have returned home.

Mr. Taylor Farrent has gone to Louisville to purchase a stock of goods, and will begin business immediately.

Dr. George Chinn and bride have returned from their bridal trip to Chicago. They are boarding at Prof. J. H. Shinn's.

James Russell, Esq., the census enumerator of this district, has finished his work. Bridgeport has a population of about 68 souls.

Mrs. Belle Kirkpatrick, who has been visiting Mrs. E. T. Herndon, has returned to her home, near Harrisonville, Shelby county. Buc.

Jacksonville.

Corn looking splendid.

Another common school year has begun.

Mrs. Laura Washburne is very low with typhoid fever.

Farmers are fearful that the wet weather will injure wheat in the shock.

It is an admirable sight to see D. O. R. racking his fine brown horse on a smooth road.

Mr. Wm Cook and wife, of Missouri, are visiting relatives and friends in this neighborhood.

A glorious time in the country once more. Plenty of blackberries, raspberries, dewberries, and fruit of all kinds.

School district No. 6, is, so far, without a teacher. It is hoped that some proficient gentleman may apply for the situation soon.

The young man who has gone to see his sweetheart semi-weekly ever since June, '79, ought to have a medal, or a position in the standing army.

Jacksonville has not improved much in the last ten years. At present it consists of three dwellings, one dry goods store, one grocery and bar-room, and one church.

There is a young lady in this neighborhood thinking of going to Woodford county soon to visit relatives. There will be a number of sad hearts to mourn until the fair one returns.

A gentleman in this neighborhood, known as "Turk," has cultivated twenty-one acres of corn with a horse twenty-one years old, this season. That will be a valuable horse when he becomes a centenarian.

Messrs. Madison Whiteman and Henry Hulett have charge of Mr. M. Moore's grist and saw-mills, on Indian Fork creek, during that gentleman's absence in Woodford county. Messrs. Whiteman and Hulett can be found at the mills every Saturday to attend to customers. Lewis.

It is a happily established fact that Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will retard vital consumption, increase involuntary muscular power and thereby harden the organs, promote vitality and facilitate restoration. It consequently possesses the wonderful property of prolonging human life.
